Introduction

Description:

The Preconception Care Counseling Template was developed by the Veterans Affair's Office of Women's Health Services with input from the Preconception Care Workgroup. For women of reproductive age, preconception care is an essential part of comprehensive health care. Given that half of all pregnancies in the United States are unplanned, women's reproductive intentions should be considered at each clinical encounter and preconception and contraceptive care should be offered as appropriate to help women attain their reproductive goals.

Preconception care involves identifying and modifying medical, behavioral, and social risk factors to optimize a woman's health before, during, and after pregnancy. Some factors (e.g., folic acid supplementation) must be acted on before conception occurs or early in pregnancy for maximal impact on the health of the mother and fetus. The template is designed to improve the process and documentation of this care to enhance the provision of high quality care to reproductive age women Veterans who desire or are considering pregnancy. The template pre-populates with structured data from CPRS/VistA when available, allows ordering from the template itself, and provides guidance regarding next steps for women with particular risk factors who require additional work up and referrals.

It is anticipated that it will be used during primary care visits, preconception care visits, and gynecology visits. This will allow a clinician and woman Veteran to work together, using shared decision-making to work collaboratively to identify and implement strategies to address her risks and optimize her pregnancy health.
